§ 1 Objectives and qualification profile

(1) The master's programme in Philosophy and Economics at the University of Vienna aims at providing qualified students with an academic education at the intersection of philosophy and economics (in particular in economics and practical philosophy), according to the current state of research and with regard to the competences mentioned under (2).

(2) In addition to philosophy and economics, students can focus on topics in related disciplines, such as political science.

(2) Graduates of the master's programme in Philosophy and Economics at the University of Vienna have the necessary academic knowledge, reflection skills and reasoning skills required for the solution of pressing social, economic and political issues in modern societies.

- Graduates of the master's programme in Philosophy and Economics at the University of Vienna have profound knowledge of the current state of research in practical philosophy as well as business and economics. Therefore, graduates are qualified to take a clear position on normative issues of business and economics, based on their knowledge of factual economic relations and through convincing argumentative reasoning. They are able to assess the factual economic order with a view to possible alternatives and against the background of different concepts of ethical standards and practical requirements.
- Graduates of the master's programme in Philosophy and Economics at the University of Vienna competently use methodology to interpret economic data. Their knowledge of business and economics and their competences in philosophy of science and philosophy of social sciences qualifies them for a critical reflection on empirical methods and economic models. In addition, graduates are able to understand research activities in social sciences and in philosophy in a social context, and to critically examine them.
- Graduates of the master's programme in Philosophy and Economics at the University of Vienna know the philosophical basics of economic decision models. They are well-informed about current developments in these research areas and are able to put these developments in relation to both socio-political contexts as well as to interdisciplinary relationships with other social science disciplines.

Graduates of the master's programme in Philosophy and Economics at the University of Vienna have a broad theoretical understanding of relevant issues and great problem-solving competences in the area of economic and social issues. They have skills qualifying them for a career in the public service and the private sector (including political parties, trade unions, federal institutions, provinces and municipalities, international organisations, non-governmental organisations, media corporations, cultural industry, public relations, science journalism, business and strategic consulting, knowledge management and corporate social responsibility in businesses).

Furthermore, graduates of the master's programme in Philosophy and Economics at the University of Vienna are qualified for a doctoral programme in the area of philosophy and economics.

§ 2 Duration and scope

(1) The workload for the master's programme in Philosophy and Economics comprises 120 ECTS credits. This is equivalent to a period of four semesters.

(2) The programme is deemed completed if 50 ECTS credits as defined in the provisions on compulsory modules, 48 ECTS credits as defined in the provisions on elective modules, 18 ECTS credits as defined in the provisions on the master's thesis and 4 ECTS credits as defined in the provisions on the master's examination have been earned.

§ 3 Entry requirements

(1) To be admitted to the master's programme in Philosophy and Economics students must have completed an eligible bachelor's programme or an eligible degree programme at the same level of university education at a recognised Austrian or foreign post-secondary educational institution.

(2) The bachelor's programme in Philosophy and the bachelor's programme in Economics at the University of Vienna are certainly eligible. These degree programmes meet the criteria mentioned in para. 3.

(3) As qualitative admission requirements, students have to provide evidence of

- knowledge of the subject area of philosophy comprising 15 ECTS credits as well as
- knowledge of the subject area of economics comprising 15 ECTS credits.

To provide evidence of knowledge of the subject area of philosophy, students can complete the extension curriculum Philosophicum or the extension curriculum Ethics at the University of Vienna. To provide evidence of knowledge of the subject area of economics, students can complete the extension curriculum Principles of Economics at the University of Vienna.

(4) To compensate for significant disciplinary differences, supplementary examinations can be stipulated, which have to be completed until the end of the second semester of the master's programme. The Rectorate may specify which supplementary examinations are a prerequisite for taking examinations specified in the Curriculum of the master's programme.

(5) If the significant disciplinary differences according to para. 4 exceed the extent of 30 ECTS credits, this is not considered an eligible degree programme and the student is not admitted to the master's programme.

(6) The language of instruction of the master's programme in Philosophy and Economics is English. Therefore, students must have English language proficiency corresponding to level B2 (Common European Framework of Reference for Languages). Regarding the proof of language proficiency, the regulations of the University of Vienna apply.

§ 4 Academic degree

Graduates of the master's programme in Philosophy and Economics are awarded the degree "Master of Arts", abbreviated as MA. Where the academic degree is stated this must be after the name.

M2 Foundations of Philosophy and Economics 22 ECTS credits

This group of elective modules provides the foundation for advanced studies in philosophy and economics. Students deepen their prior knowledge. This module aims at evening out existing differences in prior academic knowledge (see section 3).

Students complete modules comprising 22 ECTS credits in total from the group of elective modules Foundations of Philosophy and Economics according to their prior education and special interests. The Directorate of Studies has to individually define the modules in advance. The following regulations have to be observed (see appendix 2 for a graphical overview):

- Graduates of a bachelor's programme in Philosophy and Economics have to complete the module Central Topics and Texts in Theoretical Philosophy unless they can provide evidence of knowledge of the module contents. Apart from this requirement, students may select the modules freely. However, they cannot complete the modules Foundational Microeconomics and Foundational Econometrics.
- Students who completed a bachelor's programme in Business and Economics and, in this context, courses in the area of philosophy comprising 15 ECTS credits have to complete the modules Central Topics and Texts in Theoretical Philosophy, and Central Topics and Texts in Practical Philosophy (10 ECTS credits in total) as a compensation. If students can provide evidence that they already acquired the relevant knowledge during the bachelor's programme, they may be exempt from this compensation. These students cannot complete the modules Foundational Microeconomics and Foundational Econometrics.
- Students who completed a bachelor's programme in Philosophy and, in this context, courses in the area of economics comprising 15 ECTS credits have to complete the modules pi (prüfungsimmanent): continuous assessment.

npi (nicht prüfungsimmanent): non-continuous assessment.

Course types and their abbreviations: see § 9.

Foundational Microeconomics (8 ECTS credits) and Foundational Econometrics (4 ECTS credits) as a compensation. If students can provide evidence that they already acquired the relevant knowledge during the bachelor's programme, they may be exempt from this compensation.

These students cannot complete the modules Advanced Microeconomics and Advanced Econometrics.

In addition, these students have to complete the module Central Topics and Texts in Theoretical Philosophy unless they can provide evidence of knowledge of the module contents.

- For graduates of other bachelor's programmes, such as in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics, the University assesses whether they have acquired relevant prior knowledge during their bachelor's studies and which of the modules Central Topics and Texts in Theoretical Philosophy, Central Topics and Texts in Practical Philosophy, Foundational Microeconomics, and Foundational Econometrics they have to complete.

M2.E1	Foundational Microeconomics (elective module)	8 ECTS credits
Prerequisite	none
Module outcomes	Students have knowledge of the foundations of microeconomics relevant for philosophy and economics. This includes, in particular, rational choice, market equilibrium and game theory.
Module structure	VO or KU Applied Microeconomics (8 ECTS credits, 4 SSt.) (npi or pi)
Proof of performance	Passing of the course examination (npi) or the continuous assessment courses (pi) specified in the module (8 ECTS credits)

M2.E2	Foundational Econometrics (elective module)	4 ECTS credits
Prerequisite	none
Module outcomes	Students have knowledge of the foundations of econometrics relevant for philosophy and economics.
Module structure	VO or KU Foundational Econometrics (4 ECTS credits, 2 SSt.) (npi or pi)
Proof of performance	Passing of the course examination (npi) or the continuous assessment courses (pi) specified in the module (4 ECTS credits)

M2.E3	Advanced Microeconomics (elective module)	12 ECTS credits
Prerequisite	none
Module outcomes	Students have advanced knowledge of microeconomics based on prior basic knowledge.
Module structure	Subject to availability, students choose courses in the area of microeconomics comprising 12 ECTS credits in total. The selection of courses has to be approved by the directorate of studies in advance. The Directorate of Studies publishes a list of courses that will be recognised for this module without prior approval in the course directory of the University of Vienna.
Proof of performance	Passing of all course examinations (npi) and/or continuous assessment courses (pi) specified in the module (12 ECTS credits)

M2.E4	Advanced Econometrics (elective module)	8 ECTS credits

§ 6 Master's thesis

1) The master's thesis serves to demonstrate the student's ability to achieve adequate standards of content and methodology when independently addressing academic topics. The assignment for the master's thesis must be chosen in a way that the student can reasonably be expected to complete it within six months.

(2) The topic of the master's thesis must be taken from one of the compulsory modules and/or elective modules. If a different topic is selected or if there is uncertainty regarding the allocation of the selected topic, the competent body responsible for study matters decides on whether or not it is admissible.

(3) The master's thesis comprises 18 ECTS credits.

§ 7 Master's examination

(1) To be admitted to a master's examination the student must have successfully passed all required modules and examinations and the master's thesis must have been positively assessed.

(2) The master's examination is a public defence. This form of examination consists of a defence and an examination on the academic disciplines related to the master's thesis. Grading will be conducted as stipulated in the Statutes of the University of Vienna.

(3) The master's examination comprises 4 ECTS credits.

§ 8 Mobility during the master's programme

The competent body responsible for study matters is responsible for the recognition of academic achievements completed abroad.

§ 9 Course classification

(1) All courses with non-continuous assessment (npi) have to be offered as one of the following types of courses:

Lecture (Vorlesung, VO), non-continuous assessment (npi): Lectures serve the purpose of presenting topics, subjects and methods of the degree programme in Philosophy and Economics while critically taking different academic opinions into account. The course is completed with an oral or written examination.

(2) All courses with continuous assessment (pi) are offered as one of the following types of courses:

Course (Kurs, KU), continuous assessment (pi): Courses combine elements of the three traditional types of courses: lecture, exercise and seminar. The lecturer presents the prepared teaching material, example exercises are worked on and contemporary research findings are analysed and discussed orally or in writing. Assessment comprises at least three independent partial assessments.

Typically there is at least one written examination, which is complemented by additional written examinations and/or active contribution and/or a presentation and/or preparation of at least one written paper.

Exercise (Übung, UE), pi: Exercises aim to solve specific tasks constructively and achieve the degree programme's practical, profession-oriented objectives. Assessment is based on active contributions and – if required – a presentation and/or preparation of one or more written papers.

Seminar (Seminar, SE), pi: Seminars aim at the development of theoretical and methodological competences in an advanced stage of studies. The focus is on independent academic work and the adequate (written and oral) presentation of results.

SE MA Research Seminar (SE), continuous assessment (pi): A course at the end of the master's programme. This is a seminar for students in the final stage of the master's programme. Students present and discuss concepts, partial results and findings of their master's thesis and position the methodology and content of their master's thesis in the context of the entire field of philosophy and economics.

§ 10 Courses with a limited number of participants and registration procedures

(1) For courses with continuous assessment that are offered especially for this Curriculum, the maximum number of participants is 30. Courses with continuous assessment from other curricula that students attend as part of this Curriculum are subject to the limited number of participants as specified in the related curriculum.

(2) Modalities concerning the registration for courses and examinations as well as the allocation of places in courses are governed by the stipulations in the Statutes of the University of Vienna.

§ 11 Examination regulations

(1) Proof of performance in courses

The lecturer of a course is responsible for making the necessary announcements according to the stipulations in the Statutes.

(2) Examination content

The examination content relevant to preparing and holding examinations must be in line with the required number of ECTS credits. This also applies to module examinations.

(3) Examination procedure

The examination procedure is subject to the stipulations of the Statutes of the University of Vienna.

(4) No double recognition and no dual use

Courses taken and examinations passed in the three-year bachelor's programme, which constitute entry requirements for the master's programme, cannot be recognised again in the master's programme. Courses taken and examinations passed from another compulsory or elective module of the degree programme cannot be recognised within another module within the same degree programme. This also applies to recognition procedures.

(5) Examination results must be allocated to the relevant module by the stated ECTS figure and must not be allocated to different proofs of performance.

§ 12 Entry into force

(1) This Curriculum will enter into force upon announcement in the University Gazette of the University of Vienna as of 1 OCTOBER 2019.

(2) The amendments to the Curriculum as stated in the University Gazette of 29 June 2021, number 192, 41st edition enter into force on 1 October 2021.

(3) The amendments to the Curriculum as stated in the University Gazette of 7 June 2022, number 312, 45th edition enter into force on 1 October 2022.

§13 Transitional provisions

(1) This Curriculum applies to all students who commence their degree programme as of the winter semester of 2019.

(2) If, at a later stage of the degree programme, courses are no longer offered which were compulsory under the original curricula, the competent body responsible for study matters decides ex officio (equivalence regulation) or at the request of the student which courses and examinations have to be completed instead.

(3) The competent body responsible for study matters specified in the organisational regulations is entitled to determine in general or on a case-by-case basis which of the courses taken and examinations passed will be recognised for this Curriculum.
